

The Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young; The TEDDY study with a focus on paediatric coeliac disease – Professor Daniel Agardh

Please type your answers below and print for your records or print this document and complete by hand.

Q1	Describe any differences in the time to coeliac disease autoimmunity by HLA type.
A
Q2	What association did the TEDDY study find between time of gluten introduction and the risk of developing coeliac disease during childhood?
A
Q3	Were respiratory infections and/or gastroenteritis found to be associated with an increased risk of coeliac disease? If so, did the number of infections impact upon the level of risk?
A
Q4	Did the TEDDY study identify an increased risk of coeliac disease with caesarean section delivery?
A
Q5	What advice would you give to a patient with coeliac disease who is concerned about their child developing coeliac disease?
A

After answering these questions, should you require any further information, please contact us at ruth.passmore@coeliac.org.uk. You can also discuss this further on our HCP forum: www.coeliac.org.uk/hcp-forum.